LaLande is Coach of Year for second time

By SCOOTER HOBBS and ADAM BURNS
(Lake Charles American Press)

South Cameron's Parry LaLande, who led the Tarpons to a second straight unbeaten regular season, has been voted by his peers as the 2002 Southwest Louisiana Coach of the Year.

The 54th annual award is sponsored by the American Press, but voted on by the coaches.

It was the second time for LaLande, who finished second last year, to win the award. He also took the honor in 1996.

LaLande, who has been the head coach at South Cameron for 20 years, received 11 of the 27 votes cast and had 48 total points.

Barbe's Jimmy Shaver was a distant second with five first place votes and 27 total points, while Jennings' Rushy Phelps was third with three first place votes and 20 points.

LaLande led the Tarpons to the quarterfinals of the Class 1A playoffs before falling to Sterlington.

He became the 11th coach to win the honor more than once.

LaLande's coaching career at South Cameron has been filled with noteworthy events.

He has five unbeaten regular seasons, seven outright district titles and a share of six others to his credit.

He coached his eldest son Parry Jr., an all-state lineman on back-to-back unbeaten teams, and has a younger son Deli who is part of a promising group of eighth graders.

He has ten trips to the quarterfinals and two to the championship game.

Now he has been voted Southwest Louisiana Coach of the Year for the second time by area coaches.

But he still has a lot to look forward to.

He is 24 wins shy of joining the coveted 200-win club. That's secondary, though.

"I'd like to win a state championship," LaLande adds. "We've played in the state finals twice. To win it would be icing."

Tarpons are honored

South Cameron's Beau Duhon was named the All Southwest Louisiana Small Team Defensive MVP and head coach Parry LaLande received Coach of the Year honors.

Duhon, a 5-10, 180 lb. junior had more than 100 tackles with nearly 40 for a loss.

The Tarpons went undefeated in the regular season for the second straight year. This is the fifth year under LaLande's tutelage for the Tarpons to sport a perfect regular season record.

Joining Duhon on the All SW LA team are Tarpon teammates Trey Lute, wide receiver; Nick Pinch, tight end; Parry LaLande, Jr., offensive line; Nick Boudreaux, place kicker; John Theriot, defensive line; and Keith McKoin, defensive back.

Absentee voting to begin here

Absentee voting for the Jan. 18 in Cameron Parish will be held Jan. 6-11 in the Registrar of Voters office on the bottom floor of the courthouse.

Voting will be 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 8 a.m.-noon, Saturday.

Eight property taxes are on the ballot.

Beef clinic set Jan. 5

A beef showmanship clinic for Cameron Parish 4-H and FFA members will be held Sunday, Jan 5 at the Cameron Parish Livestock Barn.

The show cattle workshop will be held from 10 to noon followed by lunch. The showmanship contest is a 1 p.m.

Officials will take oaths here

Twenty one Cameron Parish public officials who were elected or re-elected recently will be sworn in two ceremonies in the next few days.

At 9 a.m. Friday, Jan. 3 in the Cameron courtroom newly elected District Attorney Cecil Sanner, re-elected District Judge H. Ward Fontenot and parish justices of the peace and constables will be sworn in.

Newly elected or re-elected School Board members will take their oaths at a special School Board meeting at 9 a.m., Monday, Jan. 6 at the School Board office.

Clerk of Court Carl Broussard will administer the oaths to all of the officials at the two ceremonies. The public is invited to attend both ceremonies.

Sanner will succeed Glenn Alexander, who is retiring as District Attorney after nearly 22 years of public service that also included several years as assistant District Attorney and as Secretary to the Police Jury.

Judge Fontenot is beginning his fifth 6-year term having been elected to office in 1979.

School Board members who will be sworn in at the Monday ceremony are: Clifton L. Morris, Dwayne Sanner, Dorothy Theriot, Loston McEvers, Patrick Howerton, Marvin Trahan and Rachel Manuel.

To be sworn in at the Friday ceremony in addition to the district attorney and judge are:

Justice of the Peace-Willie Mae Gary, Catherine Miller, Elray LeBleu, Marsha Trahan Harold Hardie and Brian Desormeaux.

Constables--Nolton Saltzman, Gwen Constance, Nolton Broussard, Darrell East, John Stephenson, Jr. and Tim Trahan.

At the Friday ceremony Msgr. Louis Melancon of Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church will give the invocation.

Chief Deputy Theos Duhon of the Cameron Sheriff's office, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance.

Judge Fontenot will give the welcome and Clerk of Court Broussard will introduce guests and elected officials.

Broussard will then administer the oaths of office to the officials.

Retiring District Attorney will give closing remarks and the Rev. Wayne Taylor of the Sweetlake Methodist Church will give the benediction.

Refreshments will be served. On Monday, in addition to the swearing in of school board members, new board officers will be elected and a new superintendent will be chosen.

Candidates for the superintendent's job are Al Burguieres of Lake Charles, Doug Chance of Early, Texas and John DeBarge of Hackberry.

If we did the things we are capable of, we would astound ourselves. - Thomas Edison

Little Miss and Mr. contests to be held on Thurs., Jan 9th

Ten youngsters representing Cameron Parish's five elementary schools will compete for the title of Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish in the 2003 pageant to be held Thursday night, Jan. 9 during the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival.

A talent show will also be held during the evening.

The contestants, who were chosen in preliminary contests held at their respective schools are:

Johnson Bayou--Anne Conner, daughter of Robin and Jamie Conner, and Byron Romero, son of Ronnie and Lisa Romero.

South Cameron--Blair Angelle

Little, daughter of Brent and Vicki Little, and Logan Laine Broussard, son of Byron and Cheryl Broussard.

Hackberry--Samantha Ann Little, daughter of Tim and Angie Little, and Brent Allen LeBleu, son of Ferrall and Rachel LeBleu.

Cameron--Karlee Beth Primeaux, daughter of Scott and Pat Primeaux, and Raj Patel, son of Anil and Nila Patel.

Grand Lake--Marlie Ellice Mudd, daughter of Lance and Kelly Mudd, and Madison Jade Morales, son of Chris and Patty Morales.

Telesha Bertrand is chairman of the pageant.

TWO YOUNG ladies will give up their crowns at the 2003 Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival next week. They are Marylyn Alexis LeJeune, left, Miss Cameron, and Shannon Hinton, Fur Queen.

Fur Festival to be in Cameron next week

The 47th annual Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival will be held in Cameron Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 9-11 and will salute the alligator festival this year.

Thursday's events include the Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish Contest, with contestants from all five of the parish's elementary schools, plus a talent contest. The events will be held in the Cameron Elementary auditorium.

(Admission to pageants on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights is $5 for adults and $3 for children. Admission to the festival grounds behind the courthouse is $1.)

The festival grounds will open at 8 a.m. Friday and will feature a variety of outdoor competitions throughout the day (see the schedule elsewhere in this issue.)

A dance will be held from 5:30 to 9 p.m. on the grounds.

At 7 p.m. the Deb, Teen and Jr. Miss and Miss Cameron parish Pageants will be held and King Fur, representing the Alligator Industry, will be crowned.

More outdoor contests will be held throughout the day Saturday with the Festival Parade set for 12:30 p.m.

The Fur Festival Queen contest will be held at 7 p.m. Friday.

An adult dance will be held at 9 p.m. in the Cameron K.C. Hall. Admission is $10 a person.

Fur Queen was honored

Shannon Hinton, the 2002 Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival Queen, was among a number of Louisiana festival queens honored at the New Orleans Saints' season finale against the Carolina Panthers on Sunday at the Superdome.

Miss Hinton, who is from LaPlace, represented St. John Parish in the 2002 Fur Queen contest. She will give up her crown in January when the 2003 Fur Queen is crowned.

Miss Hinton will be honored along with other Louisiana festival queens who will be appearing in Washington, D.C., as part of a Mardi Gras celebration.

The queens were dressed in their full royal regalia to be escorted by a local legislator during Sunday's ceremony.

Participating festivals include Cal-Cam Festival; Camelia Festival, Catfish Festival, Cotton Festival, Crawfish Festival, Creole Gumbo, Duck Festival, French Food Festival, Rayne Frog Festival, Fur and Wildlife Festival, Holiday in Dixie

Comments on permit sought

Elsewhere in this issue of the Pilot is a notice from the La. Dept. Quality asking for public comments on a draft water discharge for Henry Production Co. at its Deep Lake Field production facility in Cameron Parish.

The principal discharges from this source will be into an oil canal and thence into Deep Lake one mile south of Hwy. 183 at the Superior Bridge at Grand Chenier.

The notice states that the discharge will have no adverse impact on the water body.

Written comments on the proposed discharge will be received by the Agency until Feb. 6. See the legal notice elsewhere in this issue for details.

Hackberry market opens

Hackberry Town Market will be open 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 4, at the Parish Barn on La. 27. Market is open every first Saturday of each month.

For more information, contact Marsha Oakes at 540-3914, or visit www.hackberryteamcity.com

RECENTLY NAMED as Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Elementary were Karlee Primeaux, daughter of Scott and Pat Primeaux, and Raj Patel, son of Anil and Nila Patel. They will represent the school in the Little Miss and Mr. Cameron Parish pageant to be held Thursday, Jan. 9 during the Louisiana Fur and Wildlife Festival.

REMEMBER? Gov. Long stumps parish

(Lake Charles American Press, Jan. 1, 1940.)

LONG AND PARTY SPEAK AT BIG LAKE, CREOLE

One of Louisiana's largest and least populated parishes turned out a large force on a New Year's Eve at Big Lake and Creole to hear the issues of the current gubernatorial campaign discussed by Gov. Earl K. Long, candidate to succeed himself on Jan. 16.

The Governor was preceded at both places Sunday morning by U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender, Conservation Commissioner Ernest S. Clements, Public Service Commissioner Wade O. Martin, New Orleans City Attorney Francis P. Burns and Stat Senatorial candidate Cliff Liles. Gov. Long mounted the back ends of trucks and unloaded two of the most vehement speeches of his campaign.

At Creole, where he had been given an extended introduction by Thomas W. McCall, Cameron Parish Supt. of Education, the late "Kingfish's" brother said: "I am the state's most investigated man. I have been investigated from stem to stern, topside and bottom-side...And what can my opponents and the federal government tell you about me? Only that there's not one thing against my character.

"I am proud to say," he declared, "no one can besmirch my honesty."

It was Long's belief, he said, that as a former Gov. Richard W. Leche's subaltern he had been blamed and accused of all wrongdoing perpetrated in Louisiana. "But who in the audience knows who is the lieutenant governor at the present time?" And when there was no visible response, he said, "Your lieutenant governor is Coleman Lindsay of Minden and you don't know him anymore than you knew I was lieutenant governor for three years."

Later in his speech, Gov. Long turned to pertinent affairs of the parish of Cameron. Long recalled to mind what administration had built that section's first roads and how these had been financed. Heretofore, the people of this parish paid as much as 60 mills--6 cents on the dollar--to finance the schools and roads. Now you pay about five mills--one-half cent on the dollar--and you get back ten times more than you put into the state treasury at Baton Rouge.

Earlier in the morning at Big Lake where he had been introduced by John B. Daigle, Calcasieu-Cameron campaign manager for the administration, Long expressed "sorrow" for the quarrel with his late brother but that his was a genuine sorrow while other candidates "shed crocodile tears over poor Huey."

Discussing sales and income taxes, Long charged he would convene a special session of the legislature to "leave it squarely up to the people" on whether the former should be repealed, but that he would not budge an inch to any demands that the income tax be modified. He pointed out that Cameron Parish pays about $1,104,400 in income taxes to the state treasurer and gets back over $10,000--better than 10 to one.

Cutting short his Big Lake address because the hour approached for church services nearby, Long promised the Cameron citizens that if elected he would build roads "from one end of the parish to the other" and to make them the state's best governor yet since he was "the most qualified man for the

By Keith Hambrick Johnson residence captured first place in the overall decorating category while the Robert Wicke residence walked off with first prize in the door decorating. The contest was sponsored by the Creole Home Demonstration Club.

There was a tie for second place in the overall category between the Clifford Conner and the Kenneth Montie residences so that each was named second-place winners, thus eliminating the third place.

In this same category, honorable mention went to the Enos Sturleses, the Hon Monties, and Harold Carters, and Mrs. Alma Rome.

In the door decorating, second place was won by Mrs. Wilma Savoie, third place by the Johnnie Boudoins and honorable mention by the Robert Monties and the Joe O'Donnells.

(Cameron Pilot, Jan. 1, 1970.)

CHECK IS PRESENTED TO PARISH

A check for $139,000 was presented to Cameron Parish Tuesday by John R. Walter and James H. Roberts, managers respectively of the Sabine and Lacassine National Wildlife Refuges which are located in the parish.

The money represents a share of income received by the refuges for the past several years for trapping and grazing rights and other sources. The federal pays the parish a share of this income in lieu of paying taxes.

The parish had not received these funds for several years because the police jury and school board would not sign acts of assurance agreeing to comply with the civil rights act. However, with the integration of parish schools this year, the boards have signed these assurances.

The funds are to be shared by the police jury and the school board.

THREE MORE GIRLS IN CONTEST

Three more girls have entered the Miss Cameron Parish Queen's contest, according to Mrs. Norma Blake, contest chairman.

New contestants are: Jessye Roux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashburn Roux of Cameron; Kathy Richard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Richard of Creole; and Shirley Ann Winston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Winston.

DEBBIE JONES IN SUGAR BOWL PARADE

Miss Deborah Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones of Cameron, was one of 11 festival queens who were on a float in the Sugar Bowl parade in New Orleans Tuesday.

Miss Jones is queen of the International Rice Festival of Crowley. She is also a former Miss Cameron Parish.

STREETS WILL BE FIXED UP

Although the streets in downtown Cameron are torn up at the present because of the sewer lines being installed, Police Jury President W. F. Henry said the streets would be cleaned up in time for the fur festival next week.

The sewerage work has caused many of the streets, sidewalks and driveways to be cut. All will be repaved at the end of the project.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING CONTEST WINNERS

Creole
In the first Christmas lighting contest ever staged in the Creole area, the Gordon

Johnson residence captured first place in the overall decorating category while the Robert Wicke residence walked off with first prize in the door decorating. The contest was sponsored by the Creole Home Demonstration Club.

There was a tie for second place in the overall category between the Clifford Conner and the Kenneth Montie residences so that each was named second-place winners, thus eliminating the third place.

In this same category, honorable mention went to the Enos Sturleses, the Hon Monties, and Harold Carters, and Mrs. Alma Rome.

In the door decorating, second place was won by Mrs. Wilma Savoie, third place by the Johnnie Boudoins and honorable mention by the Robert Monties and the Joe O'Donnells.

Hackberry
The first Christmas contest of any kind featured in Hackberry was held this Dec., 1969 and was sponsored by the Hackberry HD Club. The winners are as follows:

The judges commended the following for their efforts in the contest: C. A. Riggs, Russell Turner, J. B. Nunez, Ira Ellender, Carl Johnson, and J.

B. Colligan.
Cameron
The winners in the Cameron HD Club Lighting Contest were: Overall lighting: first place winner was Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dronet. They won an electric percolator, compliments of Jeff Davis Electric Coop.

Second place winner was Sheriff and Mrs. Claude Eagleson; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mouton, third place. Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones and Mrs. Adenise Trosclair.

Doorway lighting: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ratliff, first place, and won an electric baker-broiler, compliments of Cameron Construction Co. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Smith won second place and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kelley won third place. Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkerson and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Styron.

Although only two categories were listed for competition, the decorations warranted a third category--most original, and Mrs. Loretta Champagne won first place. She was awarded an electric percolator, compliments of Mrs. Braxton Blake, chairman of the contest.

Second place was given to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Clement and third place went to Mr. and Mrs. James LeBlanc.

Grand Chenier-Oak Grove
The Robert Mhire family won the annual Grand Chenier-Oak Grove Christmas lighting contest. The prize was an electric coffee pot donated by Jeff Davis Coop. Second place went to Elora Montie and she won an electric corn popper donated by Crain Bros. Third place and a poinsettia went to the Billy Howerton family. Honorable mention went to the following families: Whitney Baccigalopi, Garner Nunez, Jennings B. Jones, Vallan J. Theriot, Edison Mhire, and Buddy Richard.
