School board stays with its first plan

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

A motion to rescind the reapportionment plan that it had adopted in February was voted down 4-2 by the Cameron Parish School Board at its April meeting Monday.

Clifton Morris of Johnson Bayou, who under the February plan would be in the same district along with Marvin Trahan of Cameron, made the motion to rescind the earlier action.

However, the motion failed as only Morris and new board member Dorothy Theriot voted in favor. Voting no were Pat Howerton, Glenda Abshire, Tony Johnson and Marvin Trahan.

Morris displayed a map showing the seven districts plans recently adopted by the Police Jury which left current jury districts basically as they are but added a seventh juror. He said that he believed the school plan to be illegal.

Teddy Broussard, Grand Chenier resident, also spoke against the school board plan and said he plans to file a complaint with the Justice Department.

Mrs. Theriot, who was recently elected to the board, received her oath of office prior to the school board meeting. She replaced Bill Morris who was recalled in a recent election.

In the regular meeting the board awarded a mineral lease on Section 16-15-15, on the west end of Johnson Bayou to Basin Properties, Inc. for $160,000 and the low bid for a special education classroom of $23,226 at Grand Lake High School.

Stephanie Rodrigue, Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction, announced that 61 students from the parish had placed in the first five positions in the District Rally at McNeese State University on March 23, 2002 with 10 first place, 14 second place, 14 third, 16 fourth place and 7 fifth place winners.

The board recognized student representatives from school clubs, organizations and fair award winners, including Eagle Scout, 4-H clubs, Student Councils, etc.

It was reported that Tracy Myers, home economics teacher at South Cameron High had purchased an electric embroidery machine with a grant she had received for her classroom and displayed a quilt made on the machine.

The board approved a revision to the Student Code of Conduct file to include cameras. The code now reads "Possession and/or use of radios, TVs, tape recorders and/or electronic games, cameras, etc. (Not being used as instructional aids under the supervision and with the knowledge of the teacher)."

The board approved the sending of letters of support to the legislative delegation and Gov. Foster for a state pay raise for teachers and support personnel.

The following appointments were made: Sethie Trosclair, Assistant Principal at South Cameron High School. Julie H. Billiot, Computer Lab Technician, Joyce Conner, sweeper (6 hr.) at South Cameron High school, and Charlene Morgan, Child Specific Aide at Grand Lake High School.

Sabbatical leave was granted for Stephanie Rogers, English teacher at South Cameron High School for the fall semester of 2002-2003 only.

Newspaper history told at Library Open House

By GENEVA GRIFFITH

The Cameron Parish Library held its annual Open House Monday afternoon with Jerry Wise, co-publisher of the Cameron Pilot who spoke on the history of the newspaper.

Charlotte Trosclair, librarian introduced Mr. Wise, and listed the many events that are taking place at the library.

Jerry Wise and his wife Joy started the Cameron Pilot when they found that there was no paper in Cameron Parish, and put out their first issue on Friday, October 4, 1956.

Wise said the Pilot probably was the third newspaper in the parish. The first was also called the Cameron Pilot (unknown to the Wises when they started their paper), an old copy of the first paper was given to Wise by the Late Tom Steed. This paper was given to him by Will Frazee, a utility company executive from Indiana who said he was retracing the route of a hunting trip he had made to Cameron Parish in 1896. He had helped J. C. Stockton to set up a printing press here and print the first issue of the Cameron Pilot in 1896.

Carl Broussard, the present Cameron Clerk of Court, found another copy of the old Cameron Pilot which had been published in 1900, in an old file in his office. It is framed and can be seen in the foyer of his office.

Members of the Cameron Home Demonstration clubs furnished the refreshments served during the afternoon Open House.

Reapportionment plans told for the parish

Both the Cameron Parish Police Jury and School Board recently adopted reapportionment plans as is required by federal law following each U. S. Census every ten years. The Police Jury plan keeps the present six districts basically intact, but also adds a new district in the Big Lake area.

The school board plan keeps the present six districts, but the boundaries are changed significantly in several cases. One big change is that the present Johnson Bayou and Cameron board members will end up in the same district in the upcoming election.

Cameron Outdoors

By LOSTON MCEVERS

Well, it seems spring has finally arrived, and anglers are taking to the waters for their favorite sports fish, either freshwater or saltwater. There are also lots of crabs out, and crabs seem to be plentiful, especially on Rockefeller Refuge. Remember there's a limit.

We're also seeing many crawfish baits, as crawfish are also plentiful this year and the price is right.

Turtles are out, laying eggs. I found my first turtle this past week and looking for number 2.

Japanese scientists analyzed the stomach and gut contents of 36 green sea turtles and found 25 had eaten garbage, most of it plastics like polyethylene bags, styrofoam and rubber bands.

MERCURY IN MARINE FISH

Results were released in July of 2001, that found high Mercury levels in Cobia (Lyne), redfish and amberjack. Hair samples taken from 18 people who eat lots of fish, eight had high levels of mercury. The Gulf Coast States including Louisiana are warned about mercury levels in fish and the safety of eating fish.

Levels of 0.984 ppm were found in King Mackerel, however 4.04 ppm were found in Louisiana largemouth bass. Japan has 10 times higher levels in their fish than here in Louisiana.

Advisories by the FDA & La. Dept. of Health & Hospitals were issued for consumption levels of fish with mercury. Species making up about 80 percent of the seafood market are not on the consumption list, because these species all contain less than 0.2 ppm of mercury, and few people eat more than the suggested weekly limit of 2.2 pounds. They are canned tuna, shrimp, pollock, salmon, cod, catfish, clams, flathead, crabs and scallops.

Really all our most popular species of fish we fish and eat here in Louisiana, including shellfish like blue crabs, have levels of mercury in them also in oysters. We just need to limit our intake on the seafood to a couple of pounds per week.

FISHING REPORT

Most fishing reports I've gotten this past week were good, however on the freshwater catches, bass was slow, while perch and bream were good as well as catfish. Crabbing has been real good, and saltwater fishing is great, sparing the winds.

Big Lake is producing large trout as reports of 9 and over 10 pounders caught. From Commission Point toward the southern part of the lake has been good for speckle trout.

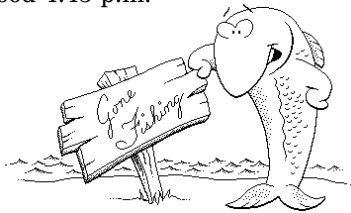

Both the Cameron and Grand Chenier Jetties are producing large bull red and big black drums.

Travis Broussard and myself made a couple of trips last week at the Grand Chenier jetties. One afternoon we caught one redfish weighing 18.6 pounds, but it got rough so we returned the next morning early to hit the outgoing tide and caught 7 bull reds measuring 28 to 38 inches long. We released 5 of these fish, but really enjoyed the fight. Travis also caught a black drum going about 30 pounds, which we released. Although we didn't catch any small red, we were happy with the two we kept. We caught those on a chartreuse mud minnow on a 1/2 ounce lead head.

Offshore anglers are ready for this coming weekend, red snapper season which opens at 12:01 a.m. April 21 through October 31. Limits of 4 red snappers with a minimum length of 16 inches.

Act of kindness told

Dear Editor:

Small, untold kindnesses often go unrecognized; those little gestures that make the world a better place. It's always so uplifting to witness such deeds.

In the hustle and bustle of the oil industry along the jetty road, a bird nests her eggs. A watchful eye sees that the nestlings have little chance of surviving in the bird's choice of residence, so the gentleman secures the nest. As this was right beside our office, he asks that I keep an eye on the situation and moves on.

This may not seem like much to some folks, but it touched my heart. Thank you, Edward, for your kindness to even our smallest of creatures.

PRIMETIME IS BACK

Who could say no to a relaxing evening with your children as they are being read to, along with some interesting discussion and a free meal to top it all off.

Tuesday nights are busy at the Cameron Parish Library. The Louisiana Arts and Humanities program 'PRIME-TIME II' is taking place at the library at five o'clock until May 7th. PrimeTime II features the moral issues of today's times in the form of children's stories read to families by a storyteller with humanities issues discussed by a scholar.

The program was a great success when it was offered last year. Many of the participants are returning from last year's program. PrimeTime is a free program for children and their parents that offer free transportation along with a free light meal. The hour and a half long program has proven to be a benefit to both the children and the parents.

So call the Cameron Parish Library and register today before you miss out on the animal adventures of PRIMETIME II. So sit back and relax with the participants at the library and see what your child has to say about humanities issues that you thought your child knew nothing about.

Parish settled 150 years ago

By BERNICE STEWART

(Cameron Pilot, April 17, 1969)
PARISH SETTLED NEARLY 150 YEARS AGO

By BERNICE STEWART

The potpourri of facts about Cameron Parish that follow are intended to remind as well as to inform, for many of you have heard about or actually lived through some of the events that are stated below.

The first permanent settlers in what is now Cameron Parish are believed to have been a family named Phillips, who built a home at the western end of Grand Chenier near the place where a ferry was later put into operation. It appears that the family was drowned in a hurricane that blew in about 1824. An Indian who lived with them saved himself by taking refuge in a large live oak. The story goes that the Phillips family sought to escape in their small boat.

Lower Cameron was settled before the northern section because of the great groves of trees on the cheniers and because wood was the principal fuel used in those days.

However, oak trees are not adaptable to building cabins by hand because the wood is too hard. Early homes were built of poles plastered with a mixture of mud and Spanish moss, and roofed with a thatch of palmettos.

Later houses were constructed of lumber sawed and prepared inland and then carried on rafts or schooners down the Calcasieu and Mermentau Rivers to the coast.

It has been substantiated that schools were in existence by 1838. One of the most competent and scholarly of early teachers was "Grandpa" Wetherill, a Philadelphian who had migrated to Indiana and later to the Chenier. Prominent families in the present Calcasieu and Andrus Cove areas boarded their children in Chenier homes so that they might be taught by the brilliant man.

PARISH HISTORY

It is interesting to note that the present Cameron Parish has been a part of many other parishes down through the years.

Let us consider the area that lies between the Sabine and the Mermentau Rivers. It was first a part of the Opelousas District, which later became St. Landry.

On March 24, 1840, the southwestern section of St.

Landry was organized as Imperial Calcasieu Parish, with Governor A. B. Roman signing the legislative act. At the time, New Orleans was the state capital.

The district seat of the Mermentau was at first known as the parish of Attakapas. Soon it became St. Martin Parish. In 1828 the southern portion of St. Martin became Lafayette Parish. In 1844, during the governorship of Alexander Mouton, Vermilion Parish was created from the southern part of Lafayette Parish.

On March 16, 1870, the Legislative Act 102 created the new parish of Cameron. It was carved from the extreme southern part of Calcasieu and the southwestern corner of Vermilion. Henry Clay Warmoth, carpet-bag governor of the state, created Cameron Parish as a favor to a political friend, Colonel Carter. The aim of the latter was to get elected to the House of Representatives. He succeeded, although he never actually spent more than sixty days in Cameron Parish. His election was due to the fact that Governor Warmoth had given him carte blanche to appoint the parish officers: sheriff, police jurors, constables, justices of the peace, and registrars of voters.

In 1865, the capital was again located in New Orleans, having shifted to Baton Rouge in 1850, Opelousas in 1852, and Shreveport in 1863.

Cameron Parish, especially the southern part, has changed in the past quarter of a century from predominately agricultural pursuits to those of industry and cattle-raising. The northern part has intensified its rice production. Gone are the days of the syrup mills, the orange groves, the cotton fields. Gone, also, is the era of isolation.

The energetic, capable Cameron Parish citizenry of today has every right to expect and to demand, if necessary, equal opportunities and an equal share in state benefits. They will get them, too, for the necessities and disciplines of their lives have become their own inner imperatives.

GOD BLESS THE U.S.A.

G. CHENIER STUDENTS ENTERTAIN BOARD

The parish school board was entertained at dinner by the third year class of the home economics department of the school, with the following board members present: Dennis Bonsall, Martial Conner, Joseph Demarets, Alfred Trahan, Raymond Sanner, and Oscar Savoie.

Other guests were: Superintendent Thomas W. McCall, I. C. Carter, and L. E. Storey, principal of Grand Chenier.

The menu, table arrangements, and service reflected much credit on the young girls who gave the dinner. Hostesses were the Misses Marjorie Doland, Lucille Doxey, and Kathleen Doxey, the last two taking charge of serving.

GRAND CHENIER BRIDGE OPENED

The bridge over the Mermentau River at Grand Chenier was formally opened at 10 o'clock in this morning.

Cameron residents arranged a program, followed by a barbecue. State Senator and Mrs. S.

W. Sweeney of Lake Charles attended the event.

The bridge, under construction for several months, replaces a ferry which has been in operation for over half a century.

OLD REX BELL INSTALLED

The Wakefield Memorial United Methodist Church in Cameron has had a page from history installed in the form of a bell from the "Borealis Rex," the stern-wheeler that carried mail, passengers, and cargo from Cameron to Lake Charles and hence to the outside world from about 1905 until July 4, 1930, when the first road was completed to Hackberry.

The "Borealis Rex," Latin for "King from the North," was run by Captain Bowie McCain and his brother, Captain Tom McCain. The Rex made the run every two days, arriving in Cameron on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights. It would be met by the people of Cameron. While awaiting the arrival of the boat, the old timers would swap yarns and play cards to pass the time.

This bell was used to sound in the fog, alert the crew, and toll the hour -- sounding the hour of a given shift for each of the three

CAMERON TIGER CUB Pack #210 had a cook-out and bike safety day held at the Cameron Rec Center. The boys learned how to use hand signals riding their bikes and other bike safety tips. eight-hour shifts.

The "Borealis Rex" was retired in Lake Charles where it finally sank. The bell, now resting above the Wakefield Church, was given to Peter Henry, who later turned it over to Frankie Henry, who gave it to J. A. Davis for the church. Mr. Davis was instrumental in getting Sam Warren and Charles Rogers to refurbish and install the bell.

The bell sounded on Easter Sunday morning, bringing to life its silent years and proclaiming the resurrection of our Lord.

NEW VFW COMMANDER

Donald "Tubby" Pellegrin was elected commander of the VFW Doxey-Vincent Post 10019 in Cameron at a recent meeting. Pellegrin will become the first Korean veteran to serve the Cameron VFW Post as its leader.

He served with Co. G, 7th Reg., 3rd Division in the combat zone during the Korean Conflict. He is presently employed by Dresser Magcober as manager of the Cameron supply warehouse.

Pellegrin will succeed Deil G. LaLande, commander for the past year.

Other officers elected were: J. Berton Daigle, senior vice-commander; Hayes Picou, junior vice-commander; Ray Dimas, quartermaster; Ray Stephens, adjutant; Ellis McWhirter, chaplain; Don Hebert, surgeon; Dewey LaBove, advocate; and LaLande, three-year trustee.

Continuing to serve out their terms as trustees are Oscar Reyes, two-year; and Tony Cheramie, one-year.

OIL SLICK ON WAY OUT

Cameron's "oil slick" may finally be doomed. The unsightly main street oil deposit, which covers the area with waste oil after heavy rains, is a well-known fact to Cameron residents as it has been with them for years.

Police Jury president W. F. "Frankie" Henry, at the jury's meeting April 1, gained its approval of a $4700 plan to eliminate the sight.

Cameron Parish and the Louisiana State Highway Department will pool their efforts in the project. Cameron Parish will purchase the culverts and the state will do the work.

Cameron Pilot, April 10, 1969. FAULK'S CALLERS

A manufactured product associated with Cameron parish for more than 40 years will be featured at the annual convention of the Louisiana Press Association in New Orleans, April 18 and 19.

Ten of the nationally-known game callers manufactured by Faulk and Son of Lake Charles, will be given away as door prizes during this annual meeting of newspaper publishers and editors from all parts of Louisiana.

Publisher are invited each year to call attention to products manufactured in their area by giving them as door prizes at the convention. The Cameron Pilot secured the Faulk callers for this year's convention.

The Faulk callers will represent the Cameron area, as they are manufactured by a father and son who are natives of Cameron Parish. Moveover such callers are used extensively in the duck and goose hunting grounds of Cameron Parish.

Clarence (Patin) Faulk of Big Lake began making duck and goose callers for his own use and that of other hunters more than 40 years ago. In 1950, his son, Dud went into business with him and they went into large scale production. Today the firm is one of the largest manufacturers of game callers in the nation and Canada.

Clarence Faulk retired last November but son Dud carries on the business. He and his wife and five employees, working in a small workshop behind their home in lake Charles, turn out as many as 60,000 callers a year.

The firm's best sellers are the Faulk goose callers that have won ten World Championships and their duck callers that have won two International Duck Calling Championships.

EASTER BEACH PARTY BROKEN UP

Young people all over the country flocked to the beaches Easter weekend for a "fling" and Cameron Parish was no exception. Sheriff Claude Eagleson said that he and 18 deputies from Cameron and Calcasieu parishes broke up a beach party of 22 youths Saturday night near Johnson Bayou and a quantity of marijuana was found at the scene.

However, no arrests were made as none of the drug was found on the youths, in their cars or in their tents. "We knew they were using it," the sheriff said, "but we could not have made a case."

The group came to the beach, the one on the General American Oil Co. property, Thursday night in three cars and a pickup truck. They camped out in two tents.

Word of wild antics on the beach reached the sheriff's department Saturday and the sheriff decided to round up the group with the aid of deputies from Calcasieu. Most of the group were from Calcasieu.

The raid was made about
