Pep Rally Fun

In an obstacle race, Chad Merritt digs for a lollipop. Students in each division raced against the clock for the best time.

Krystal Blanchard, Betsy Koppie, Sonja Trahan, Tiffany Romero, Tonya Reed, and Kelly Koppie search the bleachers for the fans who will attend the game to cheer especially for them.

While Mindy Trahan listens to directions, Corey Badon contemplates how he will make it to the finish line without losing his book.

Stepping high, Todd Billiot runs through tires, the first obstacle of five. Todd won his division.

Giving a high-five to fifth grade fans, Scott Sandifer leads the basketball teams into the gym at the start of the pep rally.

Balancing his egg, David Skidmore moves cautiously toward his teammate.

While Jonathan Tramonte, Scott Trahan, Layne Boudreaux, Karl Romero, Scott Sandifer, and Eric Lagneaux watch, Erica Laria bicycles to the next part of the obstacle race.

Before the traditional Christmas play, Mrs. Denise Trahan helps Blandon Badon put on the finishing touches, while Jennifer Blanchard watches.

Fifth grades Jessica Leger, Andy Tingler, Melissa Trahan, Tonya Touchet, Raedella Badon, Justin Trahan, Mindy Harrington, Melanie Duhon and Jerry Doucet attend "Rudolph's Christmas Party" as penguins.

As polar bears, Jessie Kellum, Sarah Constance, Jenny Trahan and Dena Stevenson dance to the music of "Roly Poly the Polar Bear." For the first time in several years, the elementary classes combined to perform one play.

Michael Menzel, Norma Jean Jinks and Brandon Adams march across the stage rapping their drums.

When it comes to wishing for Christmas gifts, Corey Badon and Ryan Romero echo their classmates' feelings by asking for two front teeth. Joining them are Mindy Trahan, David Peltier and Michael Jinks.

Christmas Traditions

As Christmas trees, Jody Trahan, Casey Roberson, Brent Badon and Michael Adams sing "Chris the Christmas Tree."

In their costumes as Morris the Moose, Britney Trahan, Nicole Doucet, Jamie Trahan, Trevor Trahan and Tanya LeJeune smile in anticipation of their performance.

In their classroom, Charles Meaux, Brandon Trahan, Matthew Griffith, Stacy Trahan, Lacey Rodrigue, Shelley Trahan, Matthew LaBauve, Natasha Oglesby, Courtney Jinks and Chad Flood bundle up in coats, hats and mittens for their part in the annual Christmas play.

While rain cancelled the bonfire and pep rally on Thursday, the scavenger hunt and dress-up days weren't dampened as

Homecoming Week Reigned

With their pacifiers, Reese Badon and Jenny Trahan revert to their babyhood days for Baby Boom Day.

Sasha Dupree, Megan Zammit, and Shelley Trahan dress as a magician, a teacher, and a ballerina on To Be or Not To Be Day.

As a pizza maker, Regina McGee wins best costume on To Be Or Not To Be Day. Jody Trahan appears as a construction worker.

On What's Up Doc Day, Ryan Mogensen, Brigitte Trahan, Sasha Dupree, Roxanne Trahan, Tiffany Istre, Sarah Constance and Jenny Trahan cover themselves with band aids and ace bandages. Sasha was the winner of the day.

Megan Zammit and Charles Meaux are chosen best babies for Baby Boom Day.

Sonja Trahan adds a field goal to the score against Reeves. The Lady Rebels won 33-27.

Students select Sonja Trahan and Scott Sandifer Princess and Prince of the homecoming ball.

Graduates of 1958 and 1968, Rosalie Billiot Colligan, Henry Tingler, Judy Romero Harrington, Pat Koppie and Dan Billiot reminisce about their days at J.B.H.S.

Sonja Trahan was crowned queen by Tiffany Romero and dancers rocked until midnight at the dance afterward. It was truly a

Keith Badon is ready for the pageant to begin.

To give the judges an opportunity to visit with the contestants back stage, the audience plays bingo. Mrs. Sandifer calls the numbers with help from Tonya Reed and Amanda Trahan.

Audience and judges get another look at the contestants.
